

Life Cycle of the Monarch Butterfly

Butterflies go through Complete Metamorphosis: Egg, Larva, Pupa, Adult

Monarch Egg on Milkweed

1st Instar Caterpillar

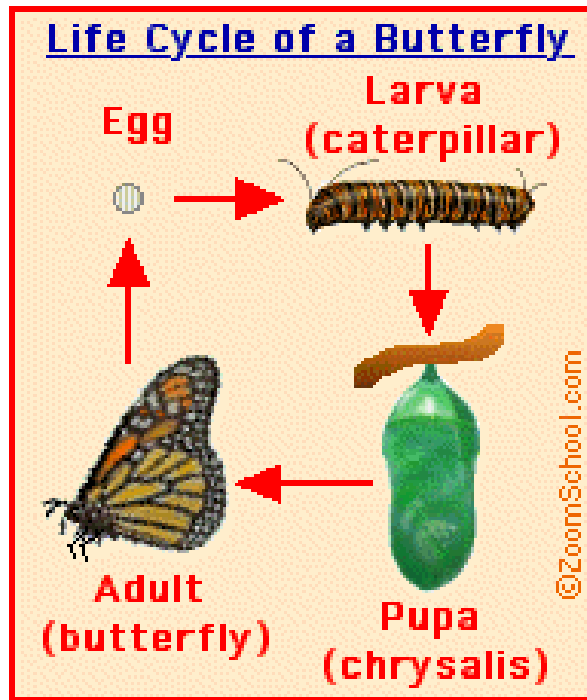

Fully Grown Caterpillar

Caterpillar in "J" Position

Pupa or Chrysalis

Adult Monarch Butterfly

Newly Emerged Adult Pumping Up Wings

Adult Ready to Emerge From Chrysalis

Developed by: Elizabeth M. S. Hill, Faculty Extension Asst, 4-H Youth Development, 9/29/05, Revised 11/18/09

University of Maryland Extension programs are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, gender, disability, religion, age, sexual orientation, marital or parental status, or national origin.

Photos by William Zittrich, www.geocities.com/wyllz/id177.htm, Used with Permission.