Historic Tales and Virginia Bluebells (Havre de Grace)

Sunday, April 6, 2025, 9:30 am – 11:30 am

Let's spend a morning with wildlife photographer and naturalist Frank Marsden as he shares the history of Conowingo Dam, the abandoned rail line, and the remnants of the Susquehanna and Tidewater Canal amidst the beauty of the flowers. We'll hike the trail as it flanks the river to admire and photograph the bluebells as well as other possible wildflowers, such as Dutchman's breeches, trillium, mayapples, and violets. We will likely find the trail at peak bloom or close to it, depending on the changeable spring weather. Birds, including fishing ospreys, bald eagles, and colorful warblers, may be seen along the river or in the tree canopy. We will hike about three miles out and back on a relatively level trail.

Creating a Homegrown National Park® in Your Home or Community

Tuesday, April 15, 2025, 7pm

Interested in creating a Homegrown National Park? Not sure why it matters, how to begin...or what a “Homegrown National Park” even is? Master Naturalist and Watershed Steward Alison Milligan will explain how this grassroots movement is bringing the life-preserving powers of national parks to communities across the country. She’ll outline how they can solve common landscaping problems while protecting the watershed, restoring biodiversity and adding value to your home. Using plants native to the Mid-Atlantic, she’ll walk through multiple before-and-after examples that illustrate the beauty of native flora and fauna. Part of the Smithsonian Environmental Research Center’s 60th anniversary webinar series.

State of the Rivers

Sassafras & Bayside Creeks - Tues., April 22, 2025, 5:30 – 7pm at Betterton Vol. Fire Co, Howell Pt Rd, Betterton

Choptank – Thurs., April 24, 2025, 5:30 – 7pm at The Phillips Packing House Co., Dorchester Ave., Cambridge

Chester River – Thursday, May 1, 2025, 5:30- 7pm at Cult Classic Brewing, Shopping Center Road, Stevensville

Miles, Wye & Eastern Bay - Thursday, May 8, 2025, 5:30 – 7pm at Chesapeake Bay Maritime Museum, North Talbot Street, Saint Michaels

Save the dates for our highly anticipated State of the Rivers events — a series of free presentations held each spring to inform public about the current state of our Eastern Shore waterways. Each year, between April—October, ShoreRivers’ professional Riverkeepers conduct weekly tidal sampling of sites from Cecilton to Cambridge, then test for multiple scientific water quality parameters including dissolved oxygen, nutrient pollution, algae, and clarity. These indicators reveal the overall health of our waterways and our progress toward protecting and restoring our local rivers. ShoreRivers, statewide groups, and national agencies use this information to track trends, develop remediation strategies, advocate for stronger laws and enforcement, alert the public of potential health risks, and inform region-wide efforts toward clean water goals.

Big Trees of Baltimore County

Wednesday, April 30, 2025, 10 am – 12 pm

Location: Hampton National Historic Site, Hampton Lane, Towson

Our newest Maryland Big Tree tour takes us to Baltimore County to experience the record holders at Hampton National Historic Park. Fourteen trees on this historic site are registered in the Big Tree Program database with eight holding Baltimore County Champion titles and one with a state championship as well. The county champs include both native and non-native species, including American holly, tuliptree, white ash, cedar of Lebanon, (allegedly brought here in a shoe box), European beech and linden trees, London planetree, and the big winner, a saucer magnolia with both county and state awards. All of these trees are specimens, planted specifically for the enjoyment of the mansion owners, and can easily be seen along a loop trail about 1.5 miles long.

2025 Chesapeake WILD Grants Program

Deadline: Tuesday, May 13, 2024, 12 noon

In 2025, NFWF and FWS plan to offer three distinct grant opportunities through the Chesapeake WILD Grants program:

WILD Implementation grants of $75,000 to $500,000 will be awarded for proposals that result in direct and measurable on-the-ground conservation, stewardship, and enhancements of fish and wildlife habitats and related conservation values.

NEW WILD Collaborative Conservation grants of up to $200,000 will be awarded to support the cultivation and enhanced coordination of existing multi-party partnerships and/or networks of partners collaborating and coordinating conservation actions that measurably contribute to WILD Program priorities. We encourage proposals that advance cross-jurisdictional conservation efforts aimed at scaling place-based actions toward greater landscape-scale habitat conservation and restoration outcomes.

WILD Planning and Technical Assistance grants of up to $75,000 will be awarded for projects that help advance future on-the-ground actions to conserve, steward, and enhance fish and wildlife habitats and related conservation values in the Bay watershed through community-based assessment, planning, design, and other technical assistance-oriented activities.

NFWF Now Accepting Applications for the 2025 Small Watershed Grants Program

Deadline: Tuesday, May 13, 2025, 12 noon

The National Fish and Wildlife Foundation (NFWF), in partnership with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the federal-state Chesapeake Bay Program (CBP) partnership, is soliciting proposals through the Chesapeake Bay Stewardship Fund to protect and restore water quality and habitats of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributary rivers and streams.

Through the Small Watershed Grants Program, NFWF is soliciting proposals for projects within the Chesapeake Bay watershed that promote voluntary, community-based efforts to protect and restore the diverse and vital habitats of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries.

Please review the Request for Proposals for all program details, including program priorities, important program dates, eligibility criteria, and other important considerations. A recorded webinar detailing the RFP will be available on the Small Watershed Grants program page by Monday March 31, 2025.
