Dear Sweet Rewards Scholarship Applicant:

Sweet Rewards Farm (Don and Pam Adams) will be offering again this year their annual scholarship award competition. Here are a few pointers to help you prepare for this year's application.

1. You will be asked to submit an essay that must cover the following items:
  - Explain how raising goats has helped you learn personal self-discipline.
  - Explain how raising goats has taught you skills that you might not have gained by not raising animals.
  - Explain how working with 4-H or FFA has built your leadership skills.
  - Explain how caring for goats has made you more appreciate agricultural education/farming.
  - Explain how raising goats has taught you how to make decisions with your animals and in your own personal life.
  - Explain how raising goats has taught you to manage a budget.
  - Explain how raising goats has taught you to manage your animals.
  - Explain the steps you needed to take to prepare your animal for the fair.
2. Each participant will be evaluated during the week at the fair for their participation with their goats in the barn and the cleanliness of their animal and pen.
3. Each participant will also be evaluated for how they help others with their goats and pens in the barn and in the show ring.

We look forward to your submission for this year's scholarship award competition. The essays must be submitted to Ann Sherrard or Michelle Harman at the 4-H Office at the fairgrounds no later than 10:00 am on Monday, July 30, 2018. A check in the amount of $500.00 will be awarded at the market goat show on Tuesday, July 31st.

You must be present in the show ring at the time the awards are presented to win.

Sincerely,

Don and Pam Adams
