The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act of 2010 is bringing about numerous reforms to U.S. health care. We've assembled publications, guides and fact sheets from reliable sources to help you improve your understanding of the Act.

The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act is commonly called the Affordable Care Act (ACA). The ACA is also referred to as "Obamacare" since it was signed into law by President Obama.

Among the reforms included in the Affordable Care Act are additional patient protections and expanded access to health insurance. The Act also contains provisions for health coverage for individuals, families, and businesses, and has the potential to affect nearly all Americans.

We have organized the Affordable Care Act resource materials by audience:

- Affordable Care Act Resources for Consumers
- Affordable Care Act Resources for Educators
- Affordable Care Act Resources for Small Businesses
- Affordable Care Act Resources for Farmers and Agricultural Producers

Have a question about the Affordable Care Act? Check out our list of frequently asked questions. If you still can't find the information you are seeking, our panel of experts is available to help answer questions. You may submit a personal question about the Affordable Care Act and how it affects your personal finances and receive a response via our Ask an Expert feature. You can also connect with the group through our social media sites:
Health Insurance Literacy

This group answers questions relating to the Affordable Care Act and its effect on people's personal finances. We help people to make informed health insurance choices and to plan for health care costs.

Ask a question to this group
How Do I Understand Coverage Details?

- What is the difference between bronze, silver, gold and platinum plans?
- How will the Affordable Care Act apply to Veterans who sometimes use VA services?
- Can grandchildren being taken care of by grandparents be on our insurance until age 26 and what if we go on Medicare?
- Where can I find out more about how Medicare is impacted by the Affordable Care Act?
- What health insurance plans can I enroll in?
- Are all pre-existing conditions allowed?
- Will obtaining the ACA tax credit or the low or no-cost health insurance reduce my other benefits such as SNAP (food stamps) or subsidized housing?
- Is there anything I need to know about maternity related coverage?
- Will this affect my ability to choose my physician and what he can do for me?
- Are all hospitals supposed to accept any or all insurance?
- How are health insurance and car insurance similar and different?

How Much Will it Cost?

- Where can I find a copy of the most updated version of the Affordable Care Act?
- What will it cost if I don’t get health insurance?
- What and why do I have to pay for health care when I have insurance?

How Do I Prepare to Pay?

- Is there anyone who can help me determine my best health insurance option?
- Is providing insurance required for the employer for anyone who works more than 29 hrs/week?
- Why is there a Health Insurance Marketplace?
- How do I take on a new cost for health insurance when I can barely pay my bills now?

What Do All the New Healthcare Buzzwords Mean?
SECTION 4: COVERING HEALTH CARE COSTS

Please refer to “My Health Insurance Spending Plan Worksheet” to calculate your health care costs.

SECTION 5: PRIORITIZING MY HEALTH INSURANCE NEEDS

15) Based on my answers, I want to be sure to pay attention to these items when choosing an insurance plan (and there may be several of these that apply to my situation). To help identify the best plan for me and my family, I would rank from 1 (most important) to 6 (least important) the following:

_____ The expected changes in health care needs that will happen to me and/or my family in the next 12-18 months.

_____ The doctors my family and I see are included in the network of the health insurance plan.

_____ The medicines that my family and I need are covered by the insurance.

_____ The cost of insurance on a monthly (or annual) basis (this would be the premium).

_____ The amount of out of pocket costs including emergencies, deductible, co-pay or co-insurance.
